OHS ALERT

RAIMONDI CRANE ALERT

All Raimondi Cranes - both luffing types and hammerhead - need to be thoroughly and comprehensively mechanically audited and checked to ensure there are no mechanical and operating problems and that they are fully compliant to all their manufacturer specifications.

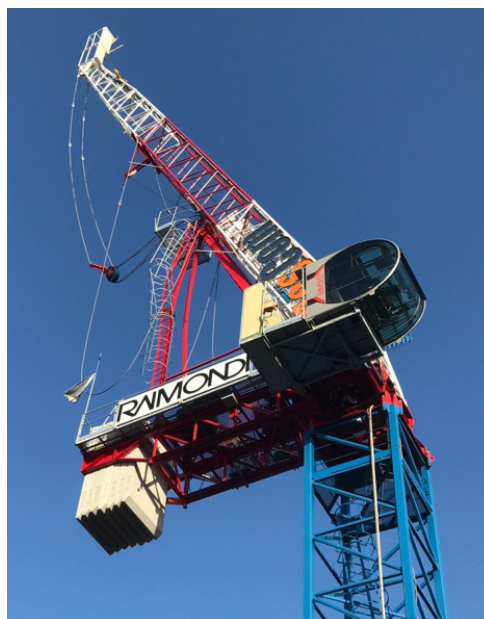

This follows the recent incident in Richmond when a Raimondi crane jib folded back onto itself during high winds, and a number of calls from concerned operators detailing a number of mechanical issues with these cranes - including the important function of weather vaning.

For further details and if there are any queries please contact the CFMEU office or your area organiser.
